John Angel

John Angel is an outstanding general contractor and partner to anyone looking to add an addition on to their home. John's ability to simulate possibilities on his computer and then implement with a fine team and within budget stands out as compelling reasons I would endorse him and have him involved in any future addition. Constantly updating us on the budget and impact of our changes allowed us to follow the project closely and come in under budget yet he exceeded our expectations. His service provider team included some remarkably talented professionals, let alone outstanding people.
